Recycled plastic doesn't rot, is impervious to insects, and never needs painting! It allows virgin oil supplies to be saved for other uses, and can be re-recycled (after 20 years of use!). It decreases the amount of plastic that is piling up in our landfills. Being non-porous allows them to be easily disinfected, and most graffiti can be easily washed off. Initials and other carvings in the tables can be filled in by melting plastic shavings over the divots.

When choosing playgrounds, there are several important factors to consider for your outdoor area:

- How will children travel to and from the outdoor playground sets - is there anything blocking the path, or any possible dangers?
- Are there potential hazards near your play area, such as busy roads, water features, or drop-offs?
- What will the sun exposure be?
- Will there be visual barriers that will interrupt the line of sight for supervisors or teachers?

According to playground safety guidelines, play areas for younger children should be separated from those meant for older children with clearly marked signs to prevent confusion. ParknPool's playground equipment is designed for two different age groups - 2 to 5 years of age, and 5 to 12 years of age.

Younger children should not play on equipment designed for older children - equipment sizes are not proportional for smaller children, which can lead to injury. Likewise, older children should not play on equipment designed for younger ones - smaller equipment and spaces can cause problems.

There's a good reason for the stellar reputation of aluminum and vinyl pool furniture - it's earned it! Expert crafted in the U.S.A. and long the choice for commercial use on pool decks, the vinyl straps on these lounges are 2" wide, strong, resistant to chlorine, salt air, rain, sun, and even germs! They retain their shape even with wet sun bathers laying on them, and they are easy to clean.

The aluminum frame is naturally durable, lightweight (allowing you to clear the deck easily for an evening reception) and rust free (leaving your pool deck stain free!). All the lounges are stackable, with reinforced straps and an added safety bar that will prevent pinched fingers. A variety of frame colors, in smooth and textured finishes, and vibrant strap colors are available.

Ground sills are treated 2" x 6" boards that are attached to the bottom of the bleacher frame when the system is placed on any surface other than concrete. They run the depth of the bleacher frame and prevent the frames from settling into the surface below.

Auger anchors are used to anchor bleacher frames to any surface other than concrete (asphalt, crushed gravel, soil, etc.).

Concrete anchors are used for anchoring the bleacher frames to concrete.

Guardrails are required, and standard on all 5, 8 and 10 row bleachers.

ASTM (American Society for Testing & Materials) Rating: An international standards organization that develops and publishes voluntary consensus technical standards for a wide range of materials, products, systems, and services.

Expanded Metal: A form of metal, made by shearing a metal plate in a press so that the metal stretches. This leaves diamond-shaped voids surrounded by interlinked bars of metal.

Extruded Aluminum: A durable, lightweight metal, which is strengthened by the process of extrusion, in which it's pushed through a die and comes out in long, shaped strips.

Flo-Coat® Steel Tubing: Steel that is given a triple-coat (zinc, conversion coating, and clear organic top coat) corrosion protection which provides a smooth, shiny appearance with unmatched strength and durability.

HDPE: (High Density Polyethylene) A polyethylene thermo-plastic which is made from petroleum (it takes 1.75 kilograms of petroleum to make one kilogram of HDPE). HDPE is commonly recycled, and has the number "2" as its recycling symbol. Milk bottles and other hollow goods manufactured through blow molding are the most important application area for HDPE.

Mounting Options:

Includes Inground, Surface and Portable options.

O.D. : Outside Dimensions

Perforated Metal: A form of metal, with perforations (or holes), typically made with a die and punch. The metal is sheared by pressing (by machine or by hand) the punch through the metal and into the die.

Platisol: A PVC (polyvinyl chloride) material, which once cured, cannot be made liquid again. Once the heated steel frame is dipped in the liquid Platisol resin and baked at 400°, it cannot be melted or removed from the steel. A coating which has a softer feel, is approximately 1/8" thick, has UV stabilizers, is antifungal, can be used for outdoor and indoor applications, and has a high gloss shine.

Polypropylene: A thermoplastic polymer, made by the chemical industry and used in a wide variety of applications, including textiles (e.g. ropes). It is rugged and unusually resistant to many chemical solvents.

Powder Coating: A dry finishing process using finely ground particles of pigment and polyester resin. It is resistant to chipping, scratching, and color fading, and doesn't contain pollutants that harm the environment.

Punched Steel: A form of metal, which "Punch" is used on, leaving circle-shaped voids in the metal.

Resinwood: Made of 100% plastic, so it will never degrade over time like many wood-plastic composites will. UV stabilizers protect the color and structure of the resinwood, assuring that the plastic lumber will be maintenance free for years to come.

Sunbrella® Marine Grade Fabric: Sunbrella® has been a leader in superior performance fabrics for over 45 years. It has earned the Skin Cancer Foundation's Seal of Recommendation for its ability to filter out harmful rays from the Sun. Fabrics made out of Sunbrella® are designed to last two to ten times longer than conventional fabrics.

Thermoplastic: A polymer material (plastic), which turns to a liquid when heated, then becomes solid when cooled. Thermoplastic can be heated and cooled repeatedly. The type of thermoplastic coating ParknPool carries is textured Polyethylene.
